International Heritage Funding Directory

International Heritage Funding Directory

The Heritage Alliance's first International Report charted the widespread activities of its members from Antarctica to Venice, from China to the USA. When asked what prevented them from doing more, funding was the most frequently cited barrier. Some members commented on the reluctance of UK charities to fund overseas study and research.

Recommendations included a travel bursary scheme - now completing its first year with the support of the British Council, and an event to explore international engagement and funding activities – realised through the Alliance's second international day in September 2019.

This International Heritage Funding Directory is a first step towards encouraging heritage NGOs and others to take a more active role in fostering international relations through heritage and benefitting themselves in the process. It is available in a standalone pdf and will be incorporated into the Alliance's existing, UK wide, Heritage Funding Directory to celebrate the 10th anniversary of that indispensable database.

Guidance on how to use this directory:

- Please note that this is not an exhaustive list and that 'calls' and priorities continually change so always check the website for what is currently open.
- For ODA (Official Development Assistance) eligible countries see the ODA list here: <http://www.oecd.org/dac/financing-sustainable-development/development-finance-standards/daclist.htm>
- Funding Advice/Directories are shown in green.
- Please read their guidelines carefully before deciding whether to apply.
- If you have any questions about the funding sources in the International Funding Directory, please contact The Heritage Alliance: comms@theheritagealliance.org.uk.

1	The A G Leventis Foundation	http://www.leventisfoundation.org/en/	The A. G. Leventis Foundation is involved with a wide range of projects across the world that support educational, cultural, artistic and philanthropic causes in Cyprus, Greece and elsewhere.	This fund makes a systematic granting of scholarships, and sponsorship of nature conservation and sustainable development projects in Southern Europe, Africa and world-wide.
2	AHRC Arts and Humanities Research Council	https://ahrc.ukri.org/funding/internationalfunding/	The AHRC promotes international links at many levels: from policy through to research funding and researcher links. It encourages international engagement as an integrated part of its standard funding schemes and operates a number of partnerships with international research funders.	AHRC has its own guide at https://ahrc.ukri.org/funding/research/researchfundingguide/ and also maintains a blog Research Beyond Borders on funding opportunities for international research collaboration specific to UK arts and humanities researchers. This covers not only AHRC funding but signposts other opportunities.
3	AHRC/ Global Challenges Research Fund	https://ahrc.ukri.org/funding/internationalfunding/the-global-challenges-research-fund/	The Global Challenges Research Fund (GCRF) is a £1.5 billion fund announced by the UK Government in 2016 to address complex global development challenges and support collaborative research that will improve the economic prosperity, welfare and quality of life of people in Low and Middle Income Countries (LMIC) A distinct £26m funding strand is administered through AHRC.	The establishment of the Fund recognises the need for holistic approaches, drawing on strengths across the research base - including the arts and humanities - to address development challenges such as poverty reduction, improving global public health, enhancing resilience to natural and man-made disasters, displaced populations, rapid urbanisation and inclusive education. Collaboration and partnership with overseas researchers, governments, NGOs and other organisations is a core part of the GCRF and to ensuring that the research supported engages fully with relevant cultural and historic contexts, knowledge bases, creativity, languages, diverse voices and beliefs.

				An allocation of £26 million from GCRF allows opportunities for the Arts and Humanities research community to contribute. For indicative overarching themes see here .
